

Norman Busse: Biography

Norman Busse is an emerging Canadian artist who is based in Guelph, ON.

With a B.A. in Fine Arts from the University of Guelph and a B.Ed. from Queens University, Norman teaches art, history and photography at the secondary school level.

For the last few years his work has focused on narrative painting, suggesting multiple interpretations by approaching the subject from often oblique and absurd angles. Popular culture, personal experiences, and the art of the past continue to inform his work. By using an assortment of merged images from fantasy and contemporary life, the artist creates large-scale pieces with colour and life.

Norman has exhibited his paintings in Ontario at various galleries and has works in private collections throughout Canada, including the Wellington County Museum, Durham Art Gallery, and Oakville Town Hall.
